Environment Responsibility

At Nomad Munai Gaz Oil Refinery, environmental protection is not an obligation — it's a core value. We understand the critical importance of preserving natural resources and reducing our ecological footprint, especially in an industry as impactful as energy refining. That's why we are fully committed to sustainable and responsible environmental practices across all our operations.

Our approach begins with strict compliance with national environmental laws and international standards such as ISO 14001. We apply the Best Available Techniques (BAT) to minimize emissions, manage waste responsibly, and prevent pollution at every stage of our production process. Our refinery is equipped with advanced monitoring systems that continuously track air and water quality, ensuring real-time data to guide decisions and corrective actions.

We are taking concrete steps to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, investing in energy-efficient technologies, heat recovery systems, and low-sulfur fuel production. Flaring is strictly controlled, and we actively work to lower our carbon footprint through optimization and innovation.

At Nomad Munai Gaz Oil Refinery, we recognize that our responsibility goes beyond refining crude oil — it extends to protecting the environment, supporting communities, and driving sustainable economic growth. We are committed to embedding sustainability into every aspect of our operations, ensuring long-term value for our stakeholders and for future generations.

Our approach to sustainability is guided by a deep respect for natural resources and a firm belief that energy production and environmental stewardship can go hand in hand. We invest in clean refining technologies, energy efficiency measures, and emissions reduction systems to minimize our environmental footprint. From water recycling and waste management to air quality controls, every process is carefully designed to reduce impact and increase accountability.

Beyond environmental responsibility, we actively engage with the communities in which we operate. We support local development through job creation, skills training, infrastructure improvement, and social initiatives that uplift lives. Our commitment to health, safety, and fair labor practices ensures a safe and respectful workplace for our employees and contractors.
